INTRODUCTION AND PURPOSE

»»» Welcome to the Positive Youth Sports Culture ("PYSC") Index from Positive Coaching Alliance ("PCA").

Our goal is to clearly describe the characteristics of a positive youth sports culture so that organizations and schools can assess where they are currently, set goals, take action, and measure their progress as they improve. This process will help organizations create environments where kids thrive and learn.

The PYSC Index is focused on youth sports organizations ("YSO") and schools, with connections to both coaches and communities being vital. The rating for your YSO/school is relative to the context of the community in which you are located and the extent to which you have control over your circumstances -- how well are you managing the things you control?

Our goal is that every organization and school can see itself in the Index.

COMPLETING THE PYSC INDEX

»»» PCA recommends that an administrator be responsible for observing practices/competitions and completing the PYSC Index. In some situations it may be that no single individual is familiar with/can observe all areas or levels of play, and therefore it may be preferable to have several individuals complete the PYSC Index for their respective area(s).

To complete the PYSC Index, read through each row and consider your organization or school's youth sports program following your observations. Circle a score (1-4) in the box provided that best reflects your current state. Take time to note your observations/indicators for the score you selected so that you have details to refer back to as you seek to make improvements.

You may use a paper copy of this PDF to take notes during your observations. If you are a PCA partner organization or school, your final PYSC Index scores should be submitted via the electronic form available from your PCA representative.
